
Proposed USCIS Fee Increases

A new proposed U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) rule would significantly increase fees for immigrants.

Here's what it would do:

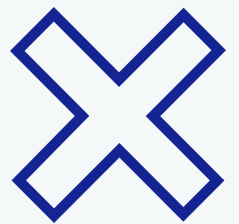

- Increase the naturalization application fee to $1,170

An 83% increase from the current fee of $640

- Eliminate existing fee waivers

This would require almost all applicants to pay the full $1,170 naturalization fee.

- Add a new $275 fee for DACA

This would increase the total DACA fee to $765.

USCIS published the new proposed rule on Nov. 14, providing 30 days for public comments.

The fee increases are likely to be enacted as early as Feb. 2020.
